The classes under this SLP were conducted by the appointed teachers on the scheduled date and time using the ICT enabled facilities available at the academic building of the Jalpaiguri Regional Centre, NSOU. Considerable number of learners enrolled in the UG Zoology programme attended the classes with great enthusiasm. Fruitful exchange of knowledge and thought among the learners, facilitated by the teachers were the most encouraging part of the programme. Although the programmes were mainly focused on a theory paper (EZO: 10; Course title: Histology, Histochemistry and Endocrinology), the students were also given opportunity to experience a large part of the course practically using compound microscope and relevant histological slides.

The learners were delighted after getting a number of their doubts cleared by the respective tutors in each of the session. Learners intending to join this type of programme in future also, is a plausible outcome of the programme.
